Train whistle study pressed

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus City Council members continued to demand a solution to the growing railroad noise pollution problem that they claim interrupts residents' sleep, phone calls and even church pastor's sermons.

Councilman Ellis Pennington, who initiated the cry for changes in railroad whistle sound patterns, pressed CSX Railroad Vice President Thomas Drake for some definitive actions on the problem that he said particularly impacts the elderly.

Drake confirmed Pennington's claim that the majority of CSX shipping passes through Romulus after dark. But he said the railroad already had begun monitoring the whistle noise in Romulus shortly after receiving complaints from the city council more than a month ago.

Pennington said he was sure CSX "engineers could continue striving to save lives by sounding the whistles at the crossings without waking the dead."

But Drake countered Pennington's claim that engineers seem to sound one loud blast on the whistles from Kelsey Hayes through the entire city of Romulus.

"It probably appears that way," Drake explained, "because Romulus has five railroad crossings within 1.2 miles.

"Federal regulations order engineers to begin sounding the whistles 1,000 feet before the crossings," he said, "and probably as one 1,000 foot distance ends, another is beginning."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry asked CSX to have a two to three-day period, when all whistle sounds are monitored in Romulus.

Several council members and a senior citizen told Drake they felt the noise problem has worsened in recent months.

Drake said that was helpful information, because the railroad had begun using foot buttons to sound the whistles and those sounds may be more intense than hand sounded whistles used in the past.

If that is true, he said, CSX could probably ask its engineers to return to using the hand whistle devices within the city.

Drake said he was not acquainted with any type of directional whistles that Pennington had recommended using several times in recent weeks. But he said CSX is willing to work with the city on the issue, because the railroad indeed "did want to be a good neighbor."

Circus may be back in city next June

How much do you think a circus elephant weighs?

One person guessed 40 pounds. Another guessed 15,000 pounds.

The closest guess submitted to The Romulus Roman was from Della Hamby, a 7-year-old Cory Elementary School student, who guessed three and a half tons (7,000) pounds. She and her brothers scoured family resource books to get an educated guess on what various elephants weigh prior to submitting her entry.

The exact weight supplied by Franzen Brothers Circus, owners of Okha the elephant, was 6,442 pounds.

Young Hamby, along with three other youngsters who guessed close to the listed weight of the elephant, earned free family passes to the circus compliments of The Romulus Roman.

The young winner also serves as a Romulus Little League cheerleader and tap danced at the Romulus Festival this summer on the same site as the Franzen Circus, her mother Della said.

Della said she enjoyed the trained lions performances the best at the second show.

She brought her mother, father, William, and two brothers, Chuckie and Chavis, along on her winning family circus ticket.

The other three winners were Matt Cichowski, 5, a

Barth Elementary School student; Kristina Rafalski, 6, a Wick Elementary School student; and Sarah Lindroth, 5, who enrolled in St. Aloysius Catholic School.

Mayor Beverly McAnally praised the efforts of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce in bringing the circus to the city.

Mark Lewkowicz, chamber president, questioned a number of circus goers as they left both performances and inquired whether they would be interested in attending a similar circus show next year.

"Most of them said enthusiastically yes," Lewkowicz said.

Based on those early responses, Lewkowicz said, the chamber is once again trying to book the circus for Romulus next summer.

Franzen Brothers this year set August as Michigan Month for all their performances, but next year plan to switch it to June, Lewkowicz said, and the chamber is attempting to finalize a June date for a return performance.

Lewkowicz said he was a little concerned after the second performance when he saw so much garbage laying about the grounds. "But I was amazed after I spent an hour talking to the circus organizers about next year, I turned around and found all the trash had already been picked up. The only thing remaining was some spilled pop corn, which they left for the birds to devour."

Taylor joins in anti-speeding effort

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Taylor police are joining Romulus authorities in an effort to make traffic conditions safer in the area of Ecorse and Inkster roads.

The area was the site of a recent accident in which two tractor trailers collided and one tipped over crushing a stopped automobile.

The woman driver was pinned inside until a nearby laborer used his front-end loader to lift the truck off her car. Romulus and Taylor rescue squad workers used the "jaws of life" to cut the victim out of the crushed car.

Romulus City Councilman Randolph Gear said the road area has been the location of numerous accidents in recent years, including several fatalities.

Taylor Police Chief Thomas Bonner wrote to Romulus City

Clerk Linda Choate that he is "aware of the dangerous traffic situation there and has received numerous complaints regarding the no left turn sign on the I-94 exit ramp.

He said he recently sent a letter to the State Highway Department requesting they remove the sign.

"His plan was to monitor the area for six months to determine whether the safety level improved or further deteriorated," Choate said. But after talking to Choate and being informed of the city concerns, he called Lansing and asked instead that the sign not be removed.

Bonner said his officers travel in that area often during the day and night, but he cannot assign an officer to the location 24 hours a day.

Traffic citations for illegal left turns and speeding are regularly issued there, Bonner said.

Acting principal is appointed

Former Crestwood Schools Superintendent Robert Rutila has been named the acting Romulus Junior High School principal, Assistant Superintendent Dr. Terrell LeCesne said today.

Rutila also is a former junior high school principal, LeCesne said.

Rutila will serve until the members of the Romulus school board approve a permanent replacement for Jesse Meriweather, who formerly served as junior high school principal and is now the Romulus schools athletic director.

during the remodeling of the junior high school building.

But when a recent millage hike for WCCC was rejected by county voters, the college decided to suspend college classes there this coming school year.

With that news breaking only weeks before Romulus school reopenings, members of the Romulus school board were given the option to use 20 instead of the earlier agreed upon 10 classrooms.

Monday night school board members agreed with the amendment change that would keep the rental cost the same ($16,000) and only add the utility cost difference to the package for Romulus.

Gordonier School will be demolished

The one story Gordonier Elementary School located on Smith Street, west of Middlebelt, is slated for demolition.

Members of the Romulus school board accepted a $34,800 bid from Homrich Wrecking Co. to raze the building.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Joel Carr said the school district has attempted to sell the school building for several years, but has not found a suitable buyer. He said the former school is in a prime development area.

It is expected demolition procedures would begin in October.

Vietnam War chapter forming

Romulus residents, who served in any branch of the U.S. military services during the Vietnam War, are being invited to join a newly formed Vietnam Veterans of American chapter in Belleville.

The next meeting is planned at 7 p.m. Sept. 12 at the Belleville Fire Station, Second and Liberty.

More information can be obtained by calling, David Persinger, 699-3613, George Kennedy, 699-2624 and Leroy Paige at 397-0486.

Romulus woman is walk winner

Lois Kadau of Romulus has been named the winner in the Walk Michigan contest this year. Her husband came in second.

As the grand prize winner she and her husband, Earl, will be honored with a Labor Day week end entertainment package at Mackinac Island. The highlight of the weekend will be their joining Gov. John Engler for the annual Labor Day Bridge Walk.

This was the second year that Romulus residents have competed in the Walk Michigan Program. This year the walk attracted 98 participants in six separate walks.

Each mile participants walked entitled them to register for the drawing. The walks were non-competitive and open to all ages.

Co-ed volleyball league slated

A Tuesday night co-ed volleyball league is currently being organized by the Romulus Recreation Department.

Each team will be required to have three men and three women on the court during matches. Teams will be allowed up to 12 players.

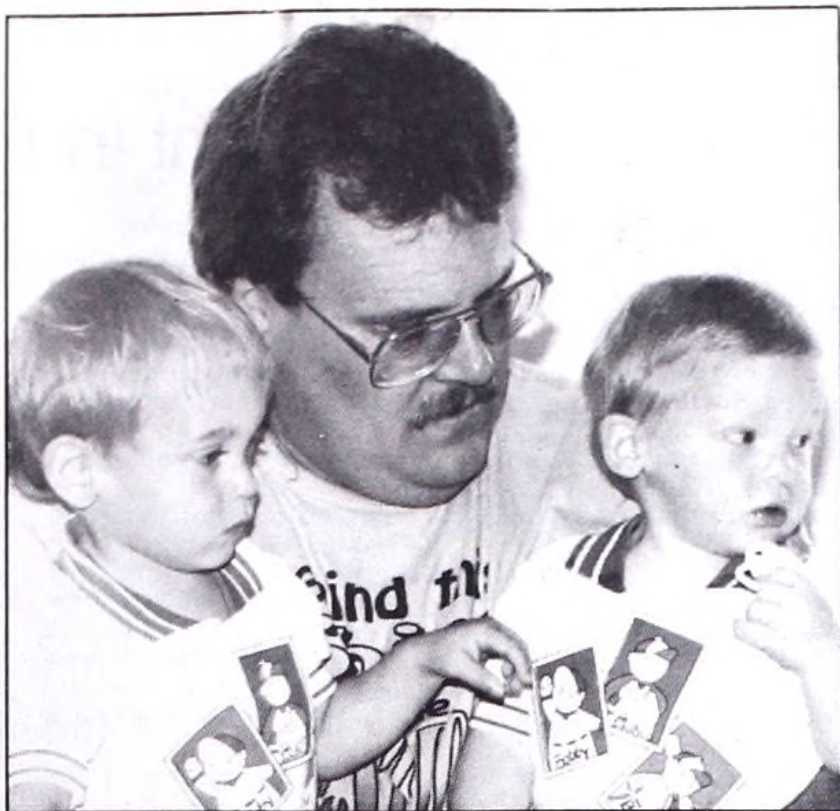

Graduation site may be switched

The Romulus Senior High School class of 1993 may be the first to graduate from the new athletic complex at the school.

The complex is slated to be dedicated later this year and be put into use for numerous athletic activities.

Principal Thomas Dolan informed the School Board he has received notification from the University of Michigan that the usual graduation site (Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor) will not be available for use by Romulus schools next June.

The school board urged efforts to remain at Crisler Arena be continued, but if they fail, to begin preparing for graduation ceremonies at the new athletic complex.

Debi Haveranek of Romulus was anxious to be a mother.

After marrying Kyle, a 1975 Romulus Senior High School graduate, the couple continually hoped their young family would begin soon.

When she became pregnant after several years, she was thrilled. When she in turn learned she was to have a multiple birth, she was even more excited. "We wanted every child, we could have," she said.

Seventeen months ago, Joshua and then Zachary, entered this world. Actually they were seven weeks early, Debi explained, and the family life in their Oakbrook subdivision home was irreversibly changed.

Despite the fact the boys usually wear identical clothing, few first time visitors realize they are twins, the mother said.

"It's their hair that confuses people," she smiled, "Zachary has red hair, while his brother, Joshua, has blond hair. But both have blue eyes."

But hair coloring is not the only difference between the twins, the mother explained, Zachary is also much more intense and aggressive.

His father smiled and said, "He's also a clean-aholic. In Both boys enjoy wading in the backyard pool, shopping in their twin-size stroller and viewing the televised program "Barney and Friends." Both boys have large size purple Barney dolls that they play with while the program is on the family TV.

In addition to purchasing matching clothes, the parents also buy identical toys for the pair.

But that doesn't eliminate squabbles between them, their father joked.

Raising twins is demanding and may not be for everyone, the Haveraneks said, but the arrival of their sons was a beautiful answer to a lifelong dream.

Poor county road conditions hit by council

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The poor condition of some of the Wayne County roads in Romulus was criticized by members of the Romulus City Council Monday night.

Council member seconded a motion approved earlier by the city planning commission citing the "poor condition and lack of maintenance of county roads, specifically Wayne and Middlebelt roads, south of Goddard."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry urged that the motion be sent in letter form to County Executive Ed McNamara and Wayne County Commissioner Bryan Amann.

In other council action: Theresa Washington, who has served as member and chairperson of the Tax Increment Finance Authority since 1984, announced she will step down from that position.

During that time she has studied, planned and successfully initiated the construction of several public infrastructure projects including the Wahrman Road improvement, Flynn Drive and Both TIFA and the city council members publicly accepted her resignation with regret and commended Washington's commitment and dedication to the city.

Athlete's father charged with drug possession

Terry Mills, 50-year-old father of New Jersey Nets basketball star Terry Mills, was arrested last Thursday and charged with possession with intent to deliver 3 to 4 pounds of marijuana.

The younger Mills starred with the Romulus Senior High School and University of Michigan basketball teams.

Mills, formerly of Romulus, was arrested in his Van Buren Township home, along with a companion, Sandy Clarke, 39, of the same address. She was charged with a similar offense.

Lt. David Early, commander of the Romulus Police Special Services Unit, said Romulus and Van Buren police officers raided the Mills home and confiscated numerous bags of marijuana, a scale, bags and a shotgun.

Early said the pair surrendered quietly as they executed a search warrant.

Both were ordered held in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Mills is currently on lifetime probation, Early said, following an earlier arrest by Michigan State Police and conviction of cocaine delivery and manufacturing charges.

A preliminary hearing date has been set for Sept. 2 in the 34th District Court.

Maxwell offers smooth ride to shows

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

When Richard Donahey drives to antique auto shows, he knows he will have a smooth ride when he gets behind the wheel of his 1905 Maxwell.

Donahey, the owner of United Brass Co. in Romulus, owns eight classic cars: the Maxwell, a 1902 Oldsmobile, a 1911 Cadillac touring car, a 1918 Cadillac, a 1930 Model A Roadster, a 1931 Model A convertible sedan, a 1951 Crosley and a 1960 Cadillac in original condition.

"Riding in the Maxwell is a smooth ride, not like riding in our 1902 Olds. Our 1905 Maxwell is a little runabout, not the Maxwell touring car that Jack Benny joked about in his comedy shows," said Pat Donahey, who accompanies her husband to exhibits and classic car shows. "Usually, the older cars are brought to the shows by trailer. When we get to the destination, we have maps and instructions to guide us on the tour. Sometimes, we do take our cars on the road. Last week my husband took the Maxwell for a drive as a test run for a trip we plan to take."

The Donaheys exhibited their Maxwell, along with several other vintage automobiles, at the Belleville Area Museum on Aug. 15.

"My husband's been collecting cars for several years. He works on them himself from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. every Saturday," said Pat Donahey. "We both work full time so there is a limit to the time we can spend with the cars."

Forty-three years ago Donahey courted his wife in a Model A, and has continued his love for both ever since.

"We belong to the Brass and Gas Club, the Cadillac/LaSalle Club, the Motor City Model A Club and the Crosley Club," Donahey said. "We've traveled in a caravan with Model A cars, sometimes 100 or 125 miles per day."

Donahey said they have tried to make a Lansing-Dearborn trip several times, but have failed on each attempt.

"The cars start at about 7:30 a.m. on a Saturday at the Olds Museum in Lansing and arrive in Dearborn from 2 to 5 p.m. the same day. One year, we got within one-and-one-half mile from our destination," Donahey said. "It's not a race. It's an endurance run. No matter how good the condition of the car is, it's an old vehicle and anything can happen."

Usually, the vintage vehicles take the back roads when they travel in caravans and hope for the best. If one vehicle experiences a breakdown, another driver will lend a helping hand.

"We love old cars and we love to display them to share with others," Donahey said.

placements will allow Barton Malow (the construction firm working on school remodeling) to hopefully complete the remodeling project by Christmas and allow students to return by February.

The new agreement was arranged by Romulus Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell. Assistant Superintendent of Schools Joel Carr and WCCC Vice President Dr. Kenneth LaSalle, shortly after it was announced that regular college classes would be suspended there indefinitely.

Since the junior high school building is undergoing such massive renovations, school administration officials said they felt it was best for safety and classroom environmental reasons that all the junior high students use WCCC facilities during the remainder of the construction effort.

Since no actual gymnasium is housed on the WCCC campus, alternate gym classes would have to be set up. Art McPharlin, administrative assistant to Bedell said, possibly using larger classrooms for some gym style efforts and in good weather some gym classes might be out of doors.

"As I understand it we'll have a turn-key situation at WCCC," McPharlin said, "since Romulus students will be the only ones on the campus."

Romulus School buses will take students directly to and from the Van Buren campus.

Local man takes flight in Russian jet

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

A Wayne Memorial High School graduate has become the first civilian American to fly in a Soviet military jet known as the MIG 29.

Robert Metzner, 52, was invited to fly in the Soviet fighter jet by a Ukrainian pilot known as the Colonel who was performing maneuvers at an air show in Rockford, Ill.

Metzner, who is a sales representative at Gail Force Air Charters in Rockford, Ill., decided to arrive at the air show a little earlier.

"I showed up early and it was at that time that I had the opportunity to meet the Colonel," Metzner said. "He invited me to fly with him and I got to be the first American in the United States to fly in a Russian MIG 29."

The former Wayne resident said that no words could describe the flight.

"The MIG is the Russian high-level performance type aircraft," Metzner said. "I wasn't used to doing maneuvers, but the flight was great. It was just amazing."

Metzner served in the United States Air Force for 10 years and was also a police officer in Pompano Beach, Fla and also a commissioner in that city.

Metzner and his wife, Adeline, have five children ranging in ages from 25 to 31.

While flying with the Colonel, Metzner and the Colonel talked politics and during their political conversation, the colonel expressed his gratitude to the American government for crippling Communism, and opening the door to Democracy.

"The Colonel told me that he wanted to thank President George Bush for ending the Cold War," Metzner said. "He is so thankful for the freedom."

Currently, the 1957 Wayne Memorial High School graduate is studying to become a commercial pilot.

Since his flight with the Ukrainian Colonel, Metzner has also become friends with another Ukrainian who became known to the world during the 1992 Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain-Tatiana Gutsu, the women's gymnastics Gold Medalist.

"Since all of this has happened, we have been corresponding," Metzner said. "All of our correspondence has to go through translators of course."

In exchange for the photo, Gutsu asked Metzner to send her a copy of The Chicago Tribune which featured an article about her.

Both are hoping they will meet at the Summer Olympics in 1996.

"She tells me that she will definitely be in the Olympic games in Atlanta," Metzner said. "I'm trying to get tickets to those Olympic games."

Metzner is hoping to use one of the company planes to take Gutsu on a tour of the United States.

"I'd like her to see other parts of our country," he said.

For now, Metzner is more concerned with attending his high school reunion later this year.

"I'm really looking forward to seeing the people I went to school with," Metzner said.

Students favor athletic shoes for back-to-school

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Low maintenance shoes and sports style footwear remain popular with area youngsters with the opening of schools, Tom Welch, co-owner of Hershey Shoes of Garden City, revealed this week.

Welch said Nu-Buk Dock-side casual shoes have proven particularly popular with school age youth this fall.

Both brown and black styles of the shoes that feature low maintenance are now available at the store at 29522 Ford Road, Garden City.

Continuing in popularity for another year, Welch said, are the Nike, LA Gear and Adidas athletic footwear.

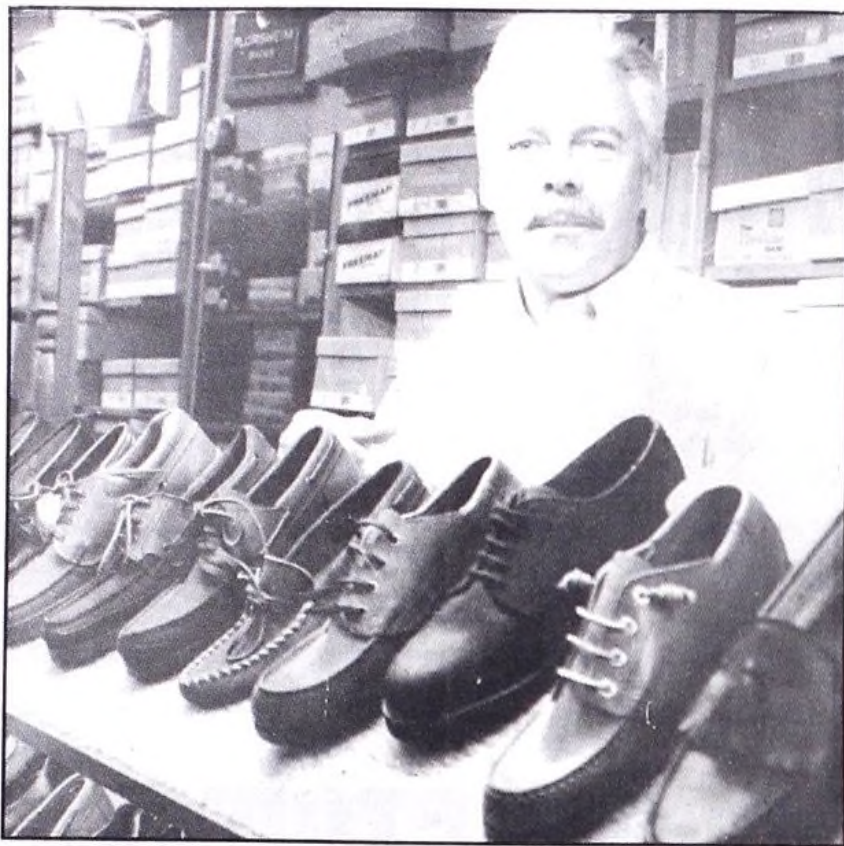

For the younger children Child Life, Jumping Jack and Buster Brown styles are available.

Welch, who owns the store along with his partner, Nick Dippold, said more than 30,000 pairs of dress and casual shoes, slippers, athletic footwear and professional uniform style shoes are currently in stock.

In addition, Hershey Shoes has various shoe catalogues for shoppers to browse through.

"We cater to our customers in every way," Welch said "making sure they are happy with the latest fashion footwear that includes the best quality, exact fit and style."

The public is becoming increasingly displeased with cheap footwear offered by the discount houses, Welch said. And the inability to receive any service at those stores makes for numerous foot woes.

Third and fourth generations of families are returning to Hershey Shoes for shoe products for infants through grandparents.

In the event someone wants a popular model of shoe that is out of stock, he said, Hershey Shoes can special order them for customers. In addition, he said, a unique Family Shoe Club offers residents a free pair of shoes for every dozen purchased.

"Hershey Shoes has been in business since 1946," Welch said, "and at the current location since the mid-1950s." Welch said he has been involved in sales at Hershey Shoes for a quarter of a century and been one of the owners for the last 10 years.

Individuals needing comfort shoes - such as nurses - are encouraged to shop at Hershey's, as are people with orthopedic problems, Welch said.

The store is open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, Thursday and Friday and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturdays.

Learning program establishes confidence skills for students

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Trying to understand how to learn and have confidence while studying can sometimes be a difficult task, but the Learning for Everyone facility, 7672 north Canton Road, has just the right tools to remove the problems from learning.

Learning for Everyone assists students 6 years old to junior college age who have problems getting to the level where they should be in school, according to Learning owner John Tenbusch.

"The program helps students get up to the grade level where they should be reading," Tenbusch said. "We don't teach what the schools teach. We help students understand the tools of how to learn and how to apply those tools."

Learning for Everyone is based on the Wehrli Performance Training program which involves confidence building and increasing learning abilities. Kitti Wehrli developed the program from her experience as a teacher in the Waterford School District, according to Tenbusch.

"I've been teaching since 1955, and I'm a firm believer in confidence building," Tenbusch said. "Through this program the students learn how to pay attention better, solve problems, think more clearly and read better."

Cost for the program is $45 for three one-hour sessions a week. Students can be referred to the program through school districts in western Wayne County or by calling Learning for Everyone.

"Usually in a 10-week period, a student can increase their reading level by one year's growth," Tenbusch said. "Some students can increase their reading skills even more than that while others take a bit more time."

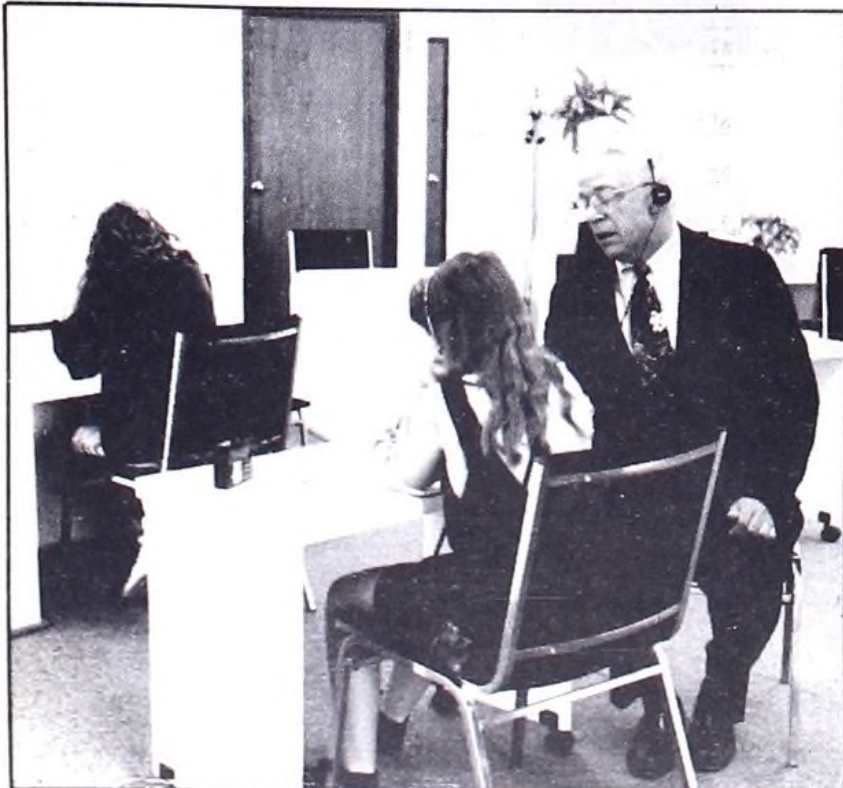

Individuals in the training program will work with an instructor on a one-to-one basis. Other Learning for Everyone tools consist of a booklet, pencil and taped program, according to Tenbusch.

"This program really works because the individual is getting individualized attention and encouragement which is very different from a classroom with more than 30 students and only one teacher," Tenbusch said. "I really do think we help people here."

Other Learning for Everyone franchises are located in Ann Arbor, Birmingham, Clarkston, Grosse Pointe, Flint, Novi, Rochester, Shelby Township and Waterford.

For more information on joining the program call 455-4949.

Martial arts master conducts classes

CLASSES NOW FORMING!

Latest techniques in self-defense, which also aid students to achieve serenity and self-confidence, are being taught in Hapkido classes by a fifth-degree black belt master instructor.

Marshall Gagne, who teaches the Korea self-defense techniques, has been a martial arts instructor for 23 years. He started training in Korea in 1969 when he was a U.S. Army paratrooper.

"Hapkido techniques and exercises are more than 1,500 years old. They help student to achieve serenity through self-confidence and self-control. Hapkido increases energy and stamina and helps people to play, work and feel better," Gagne said. "Black belt instructors encourage students not to smoke, drink or take drugs and serve as positive role models. This is a program of anti-aging techniques, which also provides the most sophisticated self-defense art in the world."

Hapkido, which is also known as the Korean coordinated power way, incorporates a variety of self-defense techniques such as striking defensive blows, kicks, twisting maneuvers and throwing and pinning opponents. The opponent's strength is used against him, thereby allowing individuals who are not big and strong to use the techniques.

"Our oldest student is 53 and are youngster is five," Gagne said. "Even disabled people can learn. I once taught a student who had only one leg."

Hapkido is continuously evolving, so to ensure that he keeps up with the latest techniques, Gagne returns to Korea annually.

"The Koreans are really into martial arts so much that it is unbelievable," Gagne said. "Hapkido is taught to special forces and to the Presidents body guards."

"Discipline is a very important part of martial arts. Those who take the classes sign a letter pledging not to discredit their instructors or the U.S. Hapkido Association and to use Hapkido only in defense," Gagne said. "In addition, once a student attains the level of black belt master they are taught to be responsible for their actions - if you learn how to hurt, you must learn how to help," Gagne said. "Students are compelled to learn cardio-pulmonary resuscitation and first aid."

Gagne is a fifth-degree black belt master instructor, and two of his students have recently passed the test for black belts: Pete Williams with a second-degree black belt and George Popofski with a first-degree black belt.

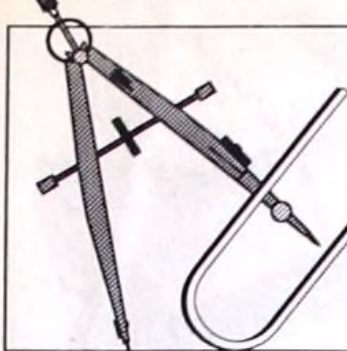

Classes in Hapkido are taught at the Carleton Performing Arts Center, 12610 Harris St., Carleton. Information on the classes is available by calling 654-3960.

Family First clinic provides convenient services for students

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

Before many students go back to school, they are required to visit their doctors' offices.

Sometimes it is quicker for the student to go to a walk-in clinic like Family First located on Wayne Road near Avondale Road in Westland.

"We're on a walk-in basis," said Family First office manager Arline Heyza. "We usually see a lot of children for immunization and physicals."

Students entering preschool or kindergarten are required to have their immunization records up to date, according to Heyza.

At 15 to 18 months, a child should receive his first MMR vaccine (Measles, Mumps and Rubella).

"The state now requires that they have a second MMR," Heyza said. "This is something that they just started to require since last year."

"It is required for any student entering a new school or entering school for the first time," Heyza said.

The cost of the MMR is $40, according to Heyza.

Another requirement is the polio immunization. The charge for that is $15, she added.

Beginning at 2-months, again at 4 months and at 6 months a child should receive a series of DTT vaccine which protects against Diphtheria, Tetanus and Pertussis. The charge for the DTT is $10, according to Heyza.

Students entering preschool or school for the first time are also required to have a Tuberculosis test, she added.

Another vaccine required is the HIB vaccine.

"This protects against spinal meningitis," Heyza said. "This is actually given to the child as an infant."

Most students entering school for the first time, seventh-grade or 10th-grade are required to have a physical.

"Sometimes they are also required when a student transfers to a new school out of their current district," Heyza said.

The charge for the physical is $20.

Students need to learn about car care

As teens head back to school, many will be driving for the first time. And as important as it is for many teens to be able to drive to school, it's equally important that they recognize the need to take care of their vehicles.

Bruce Bradshaw, education tire specialist for Firestone, said the care of tires among teens is often overlooked.

"Unless it's a blowout, many teens will not notice problems occurring with their tires. As important as it seems to teens to be able to drive, they should be mindful of taking care of their vehicle to ensure that they can continue to drive."

According to Bradshaw, tire care among teens should begin with a visible inspection of their tires on a regular basis.

Teens should get into the habit of checking the inflation pressure of their tires at least once a week.

Tires tend to lose one psi (pound per square inch) of air pressure per month in normal driving, and as the weather turns cooler, most people don't know that tires will also lose a pound of air pressure for every 10-degree drop in temperature, Bradshaw said. Improper inflation can result in rapid treadwear and premature tire removal, while proper tire inflation can save fuel which means less money spent buying gas and more money for movies and pizza.

As teens get into the habit of checking inflation pressure, they should also make a habit of looking for obvious signs of wear such as cuts in the tread or sidewall. If cuts do exist, it could lead to serious problems such as sudden loss or loss of solid traction for the vehicle.

One thing many teens do pay close attention to on their vehicle is the appearance. When cleaning their car, they often use "store-bought" vinyl protectants to make the tires shine.

However, many of these protectants contain petroleum or alcohol derivatives which can cause the rubber on the tire to decompose. The best way to keep your tires looking good is to give them a thorough scrub whenever you wash your car.

According to Bradshaw, another good tire maintenance practice for teens should be to cultivate good driving habits.

The way a person drives has a great impact on tire mileage and safety. Cultivating good driving habits includes observing posted speed limits and avoiding fast starts, stops and turns. Driving at high speeds can cause tires to build up excessive heat which can lead to tire failure.

Avoiding potholes, curbs and other objects on the road is another important practice to develop in cultivating good driving habits. Avoid running over curbs or scuffing the sidewalls against the curb when parking.

"As with most activities, just a few simple steps can go a long way toward keeping your car on the road without problems," Bradshaw said.

Fall registration begins at Henry Ford College

Individuals in western Wayne County interested in attending Henry Ford Community College (HFCC) can now register for the fall semester which begins Aug. 26.

Registration is taking place at the Office of the Registrar located in the Student Center building 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Fridays.

The Office of the Registrar also will be open 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Aug. 22 and Aug. 29.

HFCC offers the first two years of a liberal arts or pre-professional program as well as approximately 58 associate degree and certificate programs.

The community college provides a tuition rebate guarantee, the first of this kind in the nation. HFCC guarantees tuition rates will be frozen for students who graduate from HFCC within four years.

Any tuition increases levied by the college during those four years will be refunded to the student upon graduation.

To qualify for the tuition rebate program, a student must complete all course work at HFCC, graduate within four successive years of enrollment and apply for a tuition rebate after graduation. Students who receive financial aid, except for loans, are not eligible for the program.

HFCC also offers a written guarantee, assuring HFCC graduates that credits earned in the college's academic or pre-professional programs will transfer to four-year institutions or tuition is refunded.

For graduates of HFCC's associate degree career programs, the college guarantees job competency or 16 weeks of free retraining.

HFCC classes meet during the day, evening and on Saturday on three campuses conveniently located in the heart of the metropolitan area. The main campus, 5101 Evergreen, just south of Ford Road, is located near Fairlane Town Center and is easily accessible by buses.

HFCC offers comprehensive students support services including a learning laboratory for those who need help with reading, writing and math skills, an affordable child care center, a special needs program for handicapped students, a women's resource center, academic and career counseling, job placement and financial aid assistance.

Tuition is $41 per credit hour for residents of the Dearborn Public School District and $64 per credit hour for non-residents. The non-refundable registration fee is $35 and the application fee is $20. The service fee is $5 per credit hour.

For more information about registering call 845-9613.

Henry Ford Community College (HFCC) will offer a video telecourse on computers this fall.

Students who enroll in the three-credit-hour introductory course, CIS 100, will view 26 videotapes at home and will take two exams on campus.

The course is designed to introduce the student to the field of data processing, according to Thomas Burns, computer information systems instructor.

Other areas that will be covered include historical background, development of data processing, uses of computer equipment, numbering systems, input-output devices, direct access storage devices, flow charting, programming, software, hardware, micro computers and problem solving.

The Department of Performing Arts at HFCC and the college radio station WHFR-FM 89.3 will offer a new two-credit hour music appreciation audiotape course entitled "Basic Concepts in Music" this fall.

Instead of attending regular class sessions on campus, students will listen to weekly music programs on WHFR-FM, according to Rick Goward, HFCC music instructor. In addition, students will be able to listen to the audiotapes in the Instructional Media Center in the HFCC library and borrow the cassettes for home listening.

The course materials were designed in 1991 under a grant from the Annenberg Corp. for Public Broadcasting Project by the University of Wisconsin-Madison and Wisconsin Public Radio, according to Jay Korinek, performing arts department chairman and general manager of WHFR-FM 89.3.

Parkway Office Supply offers a wide variety of school supplies

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Parkway Office Supply, serving the back-to-school needs of children since 1969, continues to offer the widest variety of school and business supplies from crayons to computer equipment.

Students this school year will discover pencils, notebooks, filler pages, highlighters, calculators, and all the teacher's classroom requirements in stock.

Younger children will uncover shelves of crayons, boxes, colored pencils and markers and painting materials.

Store owner Jon Hisey says hot-selling school items in 1992 include mechanical and computer drafting supplies.

"Computer flow charts for CAD (computer-aided design) classes and protractors continue to be our best selling school-related items," Hisey said. "This time of year our sales are going right through the roof. The hectic pace is actually a lot of fun."

Hisey added that mechanical drafting supplies have maintained strong sales because, "they help students learn basic drafting principles."

Youngsters typically bring a teacher's supply list to Parkway, Hisey says, getting the school year started on the right foot.

"That's probably the best way for students to get the school supplies they need," he said.

Parkway also stocks typewriter equipment, computer discs, padlocks for bikes and lockers, academic planners and magnetic picture frames for school lockers.

Parkway also offers a complete choice of office and business equipment from leather brief cases to electronic dictionaries.

Call 722-0550 for more school supply information or stop by Parkway Office Supply, 2118 S. Wayne, at the corner of Wayne and Palmer roads.

Victim seeks 'Good Samaritan'

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A determined 19-year-old Romulus High School graduate, whose legs were shattered when she was struck by a truck on Ecorse Road in Romulus on July 23, vows she will walk again despite the fact that her doctors will not make that promise.

Christy Taylor, daughter of Joseph and Henrietta Taylor of Romulus, is also asking help from the public so that she can identify and thank a young blonde Good Samaritan, who saved her life that fateful rainy night.

Taylor, speaking from her hospital room at the University of Michigan Hospital on Friday, said, "He held the main pressure points in both my legs and kept me from bleeding to death."

"All that I can remember is that he was young and had blonde hair," Taylor said. He also kept speaking to her to keep her calm, while they awaited local rescue workers.

"I haven't been out of this bed in a month," she said, "except for a dozen or more surgeries to save my legs. Doctors say it looks good that my legs have been successfully reconnected, but they are not promising I will walk again."

On Friday, Taylor said doctors planned to get her up from bed and into a wheelchair for the first time.

Sometime within a month, she said, doctors plan to transplant one of her bones into her left leg to give it more support.

Taylor, who was an ROTC member while in school, said the crash has already changed her life dramatically.

"Right now I'm looking forward to doing things that everyone else takes for granted, like taking a shower or a short walk," she said painfully.

Taylor still remembers the accident vividly. She and four other people were moving furniture, when her car stalled on Ecorse Road, between Middlebelt and Merriman roads.

While it had been raining earlier, she said, it had stopped prior to the 12:08 a.m. police report time.

A pick-up truck driven by a 19-year-old Westland man struck her and slightly injured her sister, Teresa, 17, and two others, Kristy Mawby, 18, who was helping her push the car off the road, and Ryan Ide, 15, who was seated in the rear of the stalled car.

The accident investigation was turned over to the Wayne County Prosecutor's office this past week.

After being helped by the stranger at the scene, she was transported by ambulance to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and then flown to the University of Michigan Medical Center by helicopter.

The first week or more, Taylor said, she was having operations to save her torn legs every other day. She said her left leg was crushed and was attached only by an artery and some skin. A major muscle was torn out of her right leg, she said.

Her boss, Al Acker, owner of the Memories Again Lounge,

He held the main pressure points in both my legs and kept me from bleeding to death.

- Christy Taylor

has staged two early barbecue fund raisers for Taylor and is planning a major jamboree on Sept. 20 at his business establishment at the corner of Ecorse and Inkster roads.

Musical entertainment and auctions are planned from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. that day.

Donations to help with Taylor's medical expenses may be sent to the National Bank of Detroit branch at 31062 Ecorse Road, Romulus.

Envelopes should be marked to the attention of Memories Again in Trust for Christy Taylor. The checks should be made payable to Christy Taylor Trust Fund.

Further information can be obtained by calling Memories Again at 292-3330.

Sign prompts questions

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

A new sign in front of Westland City Hall was the subject of controversy last week at the meeting of the city council members.

A new wooden sign replaced a cement sign which had been in front of City Hall since Westland became a city in 1966, according to Councilman Thomas Brown.

At that time, Brown was the mayor of Westland.

It was Brown who objected

"We've received a lot of calls from citizens complimenting us on the sign."

- Deputy Mayor George Gillies to the replacement of the old sign.

"There is a wooden sign placed where the viewing stands for all of the parades for the last 30 years have been," Brown said. "That wall stated that this was the Westland City Hall, and prior to that it was the Nankin Township Administration Building."

Brown is concerned that the sign may have been removed last weekend and that the cost for removing and installing the sign would have necessitated paying city workers overtime.

He was also upset that the sign was removed without notification to the city council members or department heads.

Resident questions police forfeitures

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

Westland resident Mildred Evans asked Westland Police Department and city officials what happened to money from drug incidents where the defendant's car or home is forfeited.

Evans appeared before members of the Westland City Council Monday night demanding answers to her question.

Last month Councilman Ken Mehl requested a report be prepared concerning the issue.

"When are we going to see a report on what policemen do with the money they get from a drug raid," Evans said. "Who handles it, and who makes the report?"

Westland Finance Director Mike Gorman told Evans that dollars forfeited in a drug incident are placed in the drug forfeiture fund.

"Dollars that are not forfeited go into a fund until the money has been forfeited, at which time it is turned over to the city for possible expenditures," Gorman said.

Westland Police Chief Emery Price further explained the issue.

"In part, without trying to jeopardize some of the ongoing investigations, when we have taken a house, it then goes to the county prosecutor's office," Price said.

Evans also asked about the vehicles that are seized in a drug incident.

"With the vehicles we try to convert them to our own use, after they have cleared the courts," Price said. "If they don't meet our needs, then they go to the Westland Department of Public Service to be auctioned."

More than two weeks ago, police department officials requested that the members of the council approve the purchase of used vehicles for officers who are conducting undercover investigations.

Evans asked why city officials would need to approve the purchase, if they receive vehicles from drug forfeiture cases.

"If we have those cars why do we have to buy cars and vans all of the time?" Evans said.

"If that sign was removed prior to the weekend then that is all right," Brown said. "If it was removed during the weekend, we paid overtime."

Deputy Mayor George Gillies said Wednesday afternoon that the cement sign was removed and replaced with the wooden sign Monday afternoon.

The veteran Westland politician was most upset that the sign was removed without letting all of the council members know.

"There are certain things about this city that belong to all of the people," Brown said. "But not all of the people received some type of notification."

The reason the new sign was installed, according to Gillies, is to enhance the ongoing beautification effort Mayor Robert Thomas started after he became mayor in 1990.

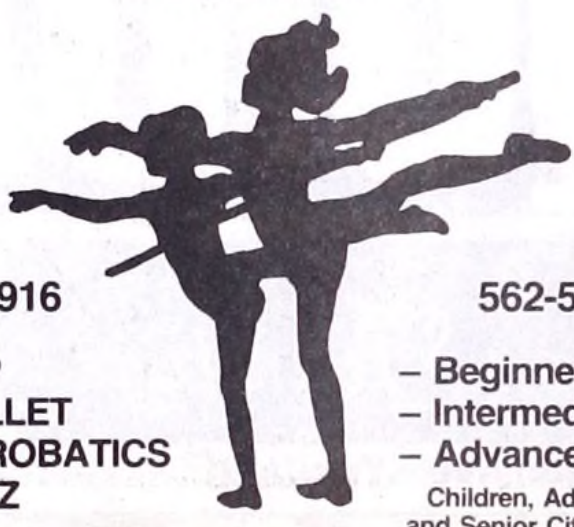

"The new sign is an addition to the beautification of City Hall," Gillies said. "We've received a lot of calls from citizens complimenting us on the sign."

Opinion

A matter of trust

Who will voters trust?

Wayne County Community College officials may well be asking themselves that question in light of the recent closing of the Western Wayne Campus of the facility.

Until a few days before the closing was made public, college officials and board members discussed the glowing future of the campus and assured area students and reporters that no such action was planned. The president of the college told us of the plans for students there this year and board members assured us, too, there were no plans to close the western campus.

But close it did. Following the voters' rejection of a .5 mill tax to fund the college, the announcement came quickly, along with an assurance that the millage question will again appear on the November ballot.

We wonder if voters who supported this tax the last time will be as trusting in November and if the actions of those responsible for managing the facility have done anything to change the opinions of those who did not support the tax. In light of the mis-information or misunderstanding, voters are not going to be of a mind to believe anything the administrators at WCCC have to say. And now, looming as an ever-present reminder to them, will be the gleaming, empty building which once housed local students.

Perhaps the closing will persuade voters in this area to cast their ballots in favor of the tax to support the college, but we doubt it. We suspect that in this climate of suspicion and demand for accountability in government, this error in judgment may emerge as a serious liability in the effort to win taxpayers' confidence.

Perhaps, learning of the closing may prompt voters in other areas to support the millage even though the campuses closest to them are not yet affected. Perhaps the closing will gain the support of other area voters who fear that without the millage the campus in their area may fall to the same budget-weilding ax.

But we fear the loss of credibility of WCCC in this area is nearly irreparable at this time.

No matter what the cause and no matter where the blame, the loss of this campus will impact on this area negatively.

We wish the entire matter had been handled differently.

That time of year

Will they or won't they? That's the question parents in Inkster and Wayne and Westland are asking this week in light of the ongoing contract negotiations with teachers.

In Inkster, spokesmen for the teachers' union have said that they will not return to the classroom until a contract has been settled. In Wayne, Westland, and portions of Canton Township and Romulus, parents are also wondering whether, in fact, their children will begin classes on time.

While board spokesmen in the Wayne-Westland district have taken the high road and attempted to put the best face forward regarding negotiations, the union representatives there have been somewhat less optimistic. The union is well aware of the approval of a 2-mill proposal by voters last year as many of the teachers who live within the district are paying the added millage as homeowners.

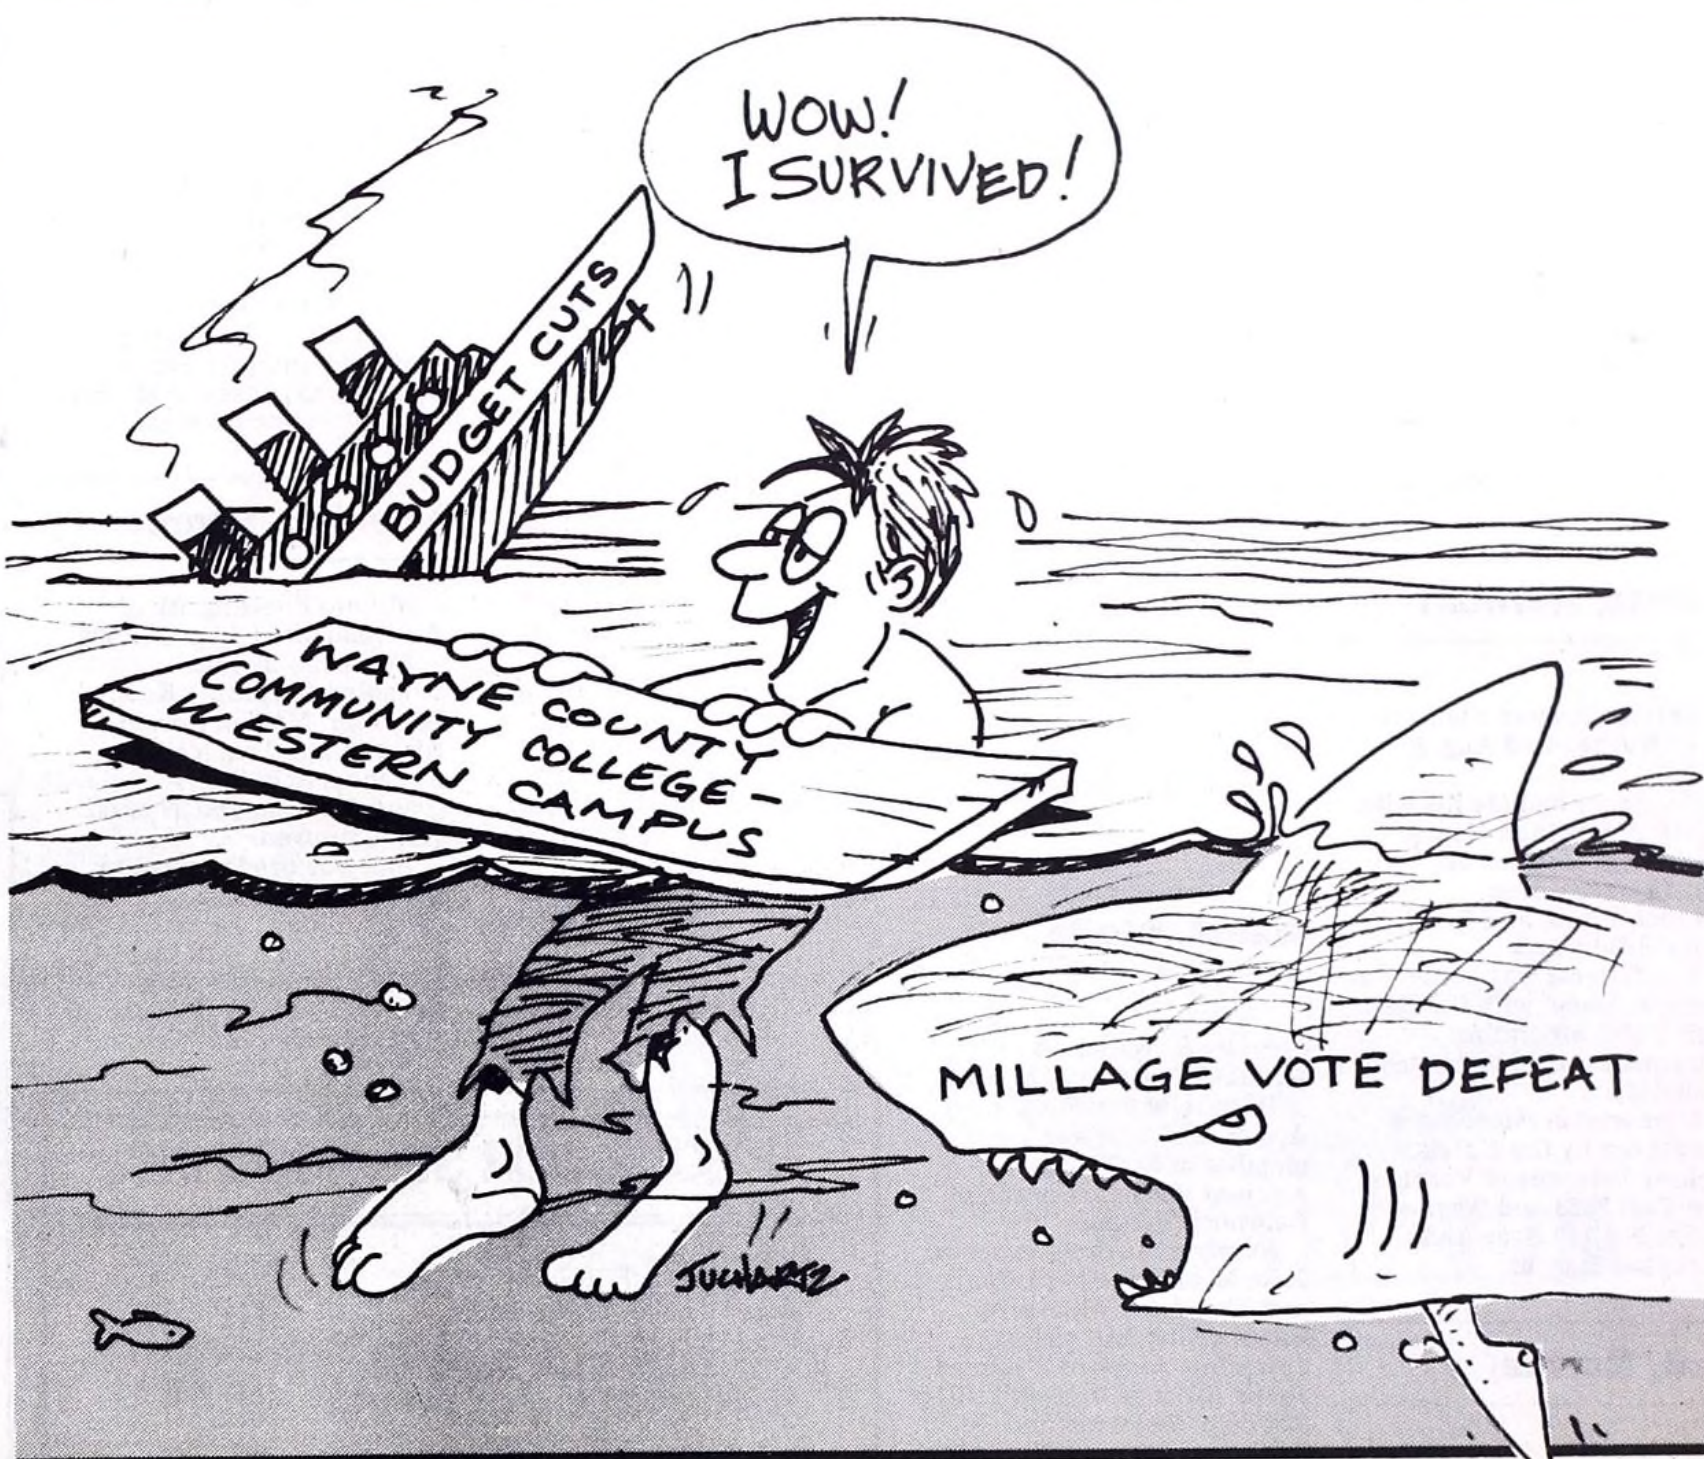

The fact is, the teachers want more money. They are also aware of the tremendous amount of money the district saved in negotiating early retirements with some staff members, allowing the hiring of teachers at a lower rung of the salary ladder.

Yes, the schools have taken these cost-cutting measures and have access to the funds approved by the additional millage. But we caution all involved, those funds will expire next year, and voters may not be willing to approve such a renewal, no matter what the threat.

We live in perilous economic times. The teachers, through their union, are attempting to negotiate a fair wage. The district is attempting to control costs to whatever degree possible.

We urge that all involved be reasonable and calm. We hope that the key words, reasonable and fair, will be integral to all the negotiations.

We'd like to see a compromise and no lasting damage during negotiations. But most of all, we'd like to see the student's win this one.

City employee earns high praise

To the editor:

Yesterday, I met with Mr. George Gillies, seeking help. My father, Paul Raptosh, a resident of Westland, died on Aug. 5. I have been staying with my mother, helping with all that had to be done.

I also spent several days weeding the yard and cleaning up some debris including a 20-foot roof antenna and two 3-foot iron frames used to string up beans. I called for a special trash pick-up and was told that the items had to be broken down so that all appendages went in the same direction. I told them that it was impossible for me to do that. They gave me the phone number of a company that might accept the items, the company refused them.

In desperation, I went to City Hall and was directed to Mr. Gillies. He courteously listened to my plight, then said that he would be by the house that day to see what I had. A short time later, he arrived, took one look and promised to have them removed within "a couple of days".

I was completely amazed when Mr. Gillies showed up an hour or so later, followed by a truck, which took away the antenna and frames, and our problem, all within four hours.

Mr. Gillies told me that he has been (the assistant to the mayor) for only a short time. I want (the mayor) to know that he gave a perfect portrayal of "Government for the People". I sincerely appreciate his kindness, particularly at a very difficult time for our family. Hang on to this gentleman, he's worth his weight in gold as a no-nonsense problem solver and a caring individual.

On behalf of my mother, Ruth Raptosh, we both thank Mr. Gillies.

School hiring plan criticized

To the editor:

Recently, times have been hard on the residents of the Wayne-Westland school district. Even though money became tight as jobs left the state, the district asked the backing of residents to pass the millage. Now, the district decides to go out of state to find teachers.

LETTERS

Why does the district feel it has to use precious tax dollars to hire out of state minorities when there are so many unemployed Michigan teachers? Isn't this reverse discrimination?

Your newspaper reported that over a thousand teachers applied for 70 positions. Only six contracts were presented at the school board meeting. Does this mean that the other applicants didn't fit their requirements?

How do they decide who to hire—either be someone recommended by a Wayne-Westland administrator or be a minority? Using those guidelines, couldn't we really be overlooking the "best" teachers? This means that graduates at the top of their class with high student teaching evaluations and excellent references, by the fact that their experience is in another district and they're a non-minority, are eliminated from consideration. Isn't this an insult to recent Michigan graduates?

Residents of Wayne-Westland district, do you want to spend your tax dollars to send administrators on a tour of southern states when we have highly qualified applicants here? Do you want to see more jobs go to people outside of Michigan while our own residents remain unemployed? Contact the school board and let them know how you feel.

Congressmen praises program

To the editor:

The Michigan college students, university administrators, and the others who had a role in the formation of the new Higher Education Act can be proud of their contributions. Together, we have fashioned a five-year plan to lower the financial barriers to higher education for students from middle-income families, and provide access to job training for our workforce.

In its first year-at the eight colleges and universities in the new 13th Congressional District—the new Higher Education Act will provide increased aid for more than 40,000 students and their parents; 8,850 of them will be newly eligible.

We've made it possible for any student in Michigan, no matter what their status, to qualify for some federal education aid regardless of their family income. We have removed the artificial barriers to college aid which were set up during the Reagan administration.

Michigan's campuses will also be testing the ground for an innovation: loans directly from the federal government to students—eliminating banks and their subsidies. If it works, as I believe it will, a full scale direct lending program could save up to $1.5 billion dollars a year, and those savings could buy more education for more people.

It is very important to note that these programs do not serve just students in traditional higher education. Of the $20 billion available nationally to students each year—about one-third, of $7 billion—goes to students in postsecondary occupational and vocational training programs. This makes the Higher Education Act the largest source of job training for Michigan's workforce. In these times of high and rising unemployment we really need this help.

Representative defends plan

To the editor:

Your recent letter to the editor from C. Chikett reflects the concern that quality education is central to a community's productivity and value. However, the writer also portrayed a widely-held misunderstanding of Tax Base Sharing and its objectives.

Tax Base Sharing (TBS) does not take any of your school tax dollars out of the Plymouth-Canton Schools. It only captures half of the growth in commercial and industrial tax base. In other words, if a new strip mall or industrial shop is built in Plymouth, Livonia or Dearborn for example, one-half of the new tax revenue stays in those respective districts. The other 50 percent of new revenue is shared with Wayne-Westland, Jackson, Alpena and all of the rest of the school kids in the state.

The fundamental premise behind TBS is that a child's educational opportunity should not depend upon whether there are shopping malls or office buildings located within the boundaries of any given district. Why should residents of Plymouth-Canton pay more in taxes, but have less spent on their kids than families in Novi, Dearborn or Southfield simply because certain businesses decided to locate in those towns?

The example simply touches the highlights of our inequitable school finance system in Michigan. The over-dependence on the property tax causes Michigan to produce rich and poor districts with have and have-not kids. In the absence of full reform, TBS is a valid effort in making the existing system work a little better.

Complete revision of our school financing system will be delayed until citizens, businesses and governmental leaders all recognize the long-term damage to Michigan's position in global competitiveness.

Councilman's daughter recovers

The 25-year-old daughter of Westland City Council President Charles Pickering is still recovering from a severe leg injury she sustained in an accident last month.

Terri Saenz was traveling south on Merriman Road July 14, when the driver of a truck heading north on Merriman Road went off the road.

As the northbound driver attempted to steer back onto the road, he traveled across four lanes of traffic and slammed into the car driven by Saenz, police said.

"She was hit head-on," said Officer Steven Frazer of the Westland police department. "He attempted to change lanes but went off the road and drove about 270 feet across the lawn of the apartment complex there and then crossed four lanes of traffic."

The accident occurred on Merriman Road south of Ann Arbor Trail, police stated.

Saenz, who was driving the car, wasn't the only occupant of the vehicle, Frazer added.

"Her husband, Geoffrey Saenz, and their son, Brandon were in the car with her," Frazer said.

All three were transported to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia where Brandon and his father were treated and released. Terri Saenz was kept for a week.

"Her leg was broken in at least four or five places," Frazer said. "She almost lost her leg."

Geoffrey Saenz, 24, and Brandon who was 9 months old at the time of the accident weren't injured as severely as Terri Saenz, according to police.

Geoffrey Saenz sustained a fractured leg and Brandon sustained a fractured arm, police said.

Councilman's daughter recovers

tained only bruises, which police stated could have been worse if he hadn't been in a car seat.

"The only thing that happened to him was he received bruises from the strap of the car seat," Frazer said. "If it wasn't for the car seat he was in, he would have been seriously injured if not killed."

The driver was charged with felonious driving and driving while under the influence of alcohol, according to Frazer.

The case will not be heard at the 18th District Court because both judges Gail McKnight and Charles Bokos know Saenz and her father who is a local councilman. Frazer added.

Kick-off 1992

Teacher strikes cloud football season opener

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Potential teachers' strikes in at least two local school districts are clouding the kick-off for the 1992 high school football season.

The season will begin for most local and area teams on Sept. 4.

However, a teachers' strike looms in the Inkster School District where contract negotiations have broken off between the 180-member Inkster Federation of Teachers and the school board bargaining team.

And, with five days remaining, the Wayne-Westland school district doesn't have a contract with more than the 900 teachers within that district.

Also, although the Romulus teachers have a contract, the Eagles' opening day game is against Taylor Truman (Sept. 4) and, according to the Michigan Education Association survey, Taylor is one of 30 state school districts on the "watch list".

Inkster teachers definitely "will walk", according to IFT president Norman Alred.

"The board team has shown no interest in settling a contract prior to the scheduled opening of school," said Alred, who added that mediation will also take time "because of state cutbacks, there are no mediators available at this time to break the deadlock."

However, George Thompson, Inkster High athletic director, remains optimistic.

"We have never had a strike in this school district for as long as I can remember," Thompson said. "And I remain positive that this thing can be averted."

"After all, the only people who get hurt in situations like this are the children. We must not overlook that fact. Our kids are practicing hard in anticipation of opening day."

"I can't see us disappointing them," Thompson concluded.

New on the block

Inkster sprinter is bronze medalist

A 13-year-old Inkster sprinter finished third at the national finals of the Hershey Track and Field Youth Program.

Sharma Ray ran a 0:29.93 in the girls' 200-meter dash and crossed the finish line third. She earned a bronze medal at the prestigious track and field summer classic.

Sharma had an opportunity to meet Rafer Johnson, the 1960 Olympic Decathlon gold medalist during her brief stay in Hershey, Pa. Johnson lauded the athletes, about 480 youngsters who represented their communities from across the United States.

"The 1992 Summer Olympics added a lot of excitement to this year's national finals," Johnson added. "The children from all the different regionals of our country came together to celebrate the Olympic spirit."

While in Chocolate Town, U.S.A., the athletes, ages 9-14, competed in a wide variety of track and field events, including relays, softball throws, and events that help promote physical fitness and sportsmanship."

Doubles, courts improve Romulus tennis forecast

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A battle-experienced doubles' team, and a possibility that their new tennis courts will be completed by the end September, has raised tennis stock in Romulus for the 1992 campaign.

In the inaugural season, the Eagles posted a 3-10 won-lost season. And of that team, second-year coach Dan Stearn will have back six players who saw "considerable action at doubles and at least one reliable stick in singles."

"We have only one singles player back, so we will be rebuilding our lineup in singles, however, our doubles' teams look pretty solid," Stearn added. "We are looking forward to improvement in our play as well as in our record."

Left without a league after they turned their backs on the South Central Conference, Romulus remains an eligible independent seeking conference status.

Moreover, the Eagles' $4.1 million investment in a new athletic complex which includes tennis courts should convince skeptics that the future of tennis and athletics are secure in the school district.

"I believe with this team we will start a new tennis tradition here at Romulus High," Stearn said. "This is a young team with little experience. But these kids have leadership, determination and a great deal of pride."

Among the notables the sophomore Romulus coach will depend upon are co-captains Lisa Decker, Alicia Fitzhugh, Jamie Taylor, Keilani Buckley, Danielle Franklin, Jamie McGraw, and Michelle Slawinski.

Also returning to the lineup are Laura Brown (sophomore), Nicole Dyer (sophomore), Diane Kehn (junior) and Erin Reinhackel (junior). Kehn and Reinhackel both saw action in singles and doubles last year as probable starters this year at doubles.

Brown and Dyer played exhibition matches during the 1991 season and will have to fight to earn playing time this year, according to the Romulus coach.

Decker, a junior, played anywhere from first to fourth singles, although third singles was her natural position last year. She is called a natural team leader who possesses a fine backhand and is a fierce competitor. She also lettered in volleyball and softball and has a 4.113 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

Fitzhugh posted a winning record a year ago, competing in the third doubles with Jamie Taylor. She also was a member of the boys' team two years ago when Romulus didn't field a girls' team. A senior, Fitzhugh should be the

Inkster crowns tennis champions

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Amateur men and women tennis enthusiasts had an opportunity to show off their talents last week at the 14th annual Inkster Parks and Recreation Tennis Invitational.

"This was a first-class tournament," said Portia Dickson, who coordinated the competition this year. "We had a lot of support from volunteers, especially from the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, and also we received donations of material and refreshments from our local civic and business groups."

At least seven local and area netters earned first-place trophies.

Richard McGinnis of Inkster knocked off Carl Gillespie of Wayne to capture a first in the men's singles. In the meantime, Westland resident Allison Earby fell short in her bid for the women's singles crown. She lost to Southfield netter Leslie Burns.

In another excellent match, Frank Benfante of Westland and Southfield tennis ace, Theo Ulinfun, staged a duel to the end and Ulinfun came out the winner in the Men's 35 and Over singles' competition.

Johnny Evans of Inkster picked up a first-place trophy in the Men's 45 and Over singles bracket. He did it at the expense of Detroit's Jerry Brooks.

McGinnis later teamed up with Canton Township resident Phil Jackson, to stun the duo of Carl Gillespie and Jerry Brooks for the adult doubles' first-place trophy.

In the adult mixed doubles, Clyde and Fantio Kincaide of Inkster, fell short in their bid to beat Leslie Burns of Southfield and Tayarkondo Kuanda of Detroit. The Inkster couple settled for second best.

Two Detroiters - Alice Collins and Sandra Willis - dominated the women doubles competition. They defeated Dedeene Bishop and Fantio Kincaide, both of Inkster.

The city of Romulus was represented on the winner's dais thanks to Johnny and Wendell Buckley. They surfaced with a victory in the Men's 35 and Over doubles bracket. The champs stopped James Fredericks and David Marke of Livonia.

Phil Jackson of Canton teamed up with Jerry Brooks of Detroit to win the Men's 45 and Over doubles competition. Runners-up were Rex Reitenga of Northville and Frank Benfante of Westland.

Fall softball league deadline is set

If you're planning to enter a team in the Canton Parks and Recreation fall softball league you have until 5 p.m. tomorrow to register.

Canton softball officials announced this week that they have established the Aug. 28 deadline in order to learn how many teams are available for the fall program.

"There is no residency rule for this league," noted Bob Dates, recreation supervisor. "We're looking at a five-week league with each team playing a doubleheader once a week."

There will be a total of 10 games played by each team during the 1992 season, Dates added.

The league will begin action on Sept. 8.

There is a $190 per team registration fee. Teams also will be charged a $25 fee if they forfeit. Also, each team will be responsible for an additional $13 per game to pay for officiating costs.

For further information, contact the Canton Parks and Recreation Services at 397-5110.

Canton recreation officials also are seeking competitors for a racquetball league. The league will begin operation on Sept. 9, and matches will be conducted from 7:30 to 8 p.m. at the Rose Shores court.

All players will be placed into divisions based upon experience. There is a $100 per player registration fee that covers the costs of court-time and awards.

Participants are invited to mail their registration or drop off it off at the Canton Parks and Recreation Services, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton, Mich. 48188.

Tourney champs

With a thrilling 13-12 victory over their arch-rivals, the Mets, in the finals, the Yankees pulled out the Westland Youth Athletic Association Mustang Baseball League tournament championships. The tourney champs finished the 1992 campaign with an impressive 13-2 won-lost overall record. Manager Darrell Dick's winning lineup included: James Foran (front row, from left), Justin Dick, Tony Cashero, Mike Guilbault, Jason Curzytek and Chris Casteel; second row are Jason Gibson, Kevin Yudi, Patrick Ward, Jamie Manning, Darren Harvey and Brandon Borsvold. In the back row is manager Darrell Dick. Not available at the time of the photo are team member Jeff Albrecht and coaches Jim Gibson, John Curzytek and Keith Borsvold. ANP Special Photo

Safety tips offered to hunters

Romulus and the Wayne County Sportsman's Club will team up next month to offer hunters a course in safety.

The course will be conducted Sept. 26-27 at the Wayne County Sportsman's Club, located at 18102 Inkster Road, between Pennsylvania and Sibley roads in Romulus.

Bill Miller, who is the instructor and coordinator for the course, will cover topics that include safe use of archery equipment, firearms safety, hunter ethics, first aid, survival techniques, wildlife management and other related subjects.

There is a $3 registration fee that will include a Safe Hunter shoulder patch, range fees, ammunition and all class material. For further information, contact Miller at 532-0285 or 534-2536.

3-on-3

With a little help or some divine intervention, they say, four local cagers placed second and earned the Sportsmanship Trophy at the 3-on-3 Gus Mackey basketball tournament staged recently at Port Huron. The team, made up of ministers the Rev. Ricky B. Swilley (above, from left) of Word of Faith Church, the Revs. Rodney Brown, Gregory T. Harris and Shawn A. Kirkland, finished second-best in a 32-team division that had some 2,300 teams competing. "Our strong Christian beliefs brought us together," Harris said. Harris and Brown are from Inkster, while Swilley, who prepped at Saginaw Buena Vista, presently resides in Belleville. Kirkland is a Wayne resident. This is the first time the foursome has played as a team in the popular 3-on-3 tournament. One of the reasons why the local team was awarded the Sportsmanship Trophy, according to Harris, is that one of the officials noted, "We said a prayer before each game. In fact, one of the officials even came over and joined us. That's how impressed he was." Special photo by Larry Thomas mainstay of the doubles team. Buckley spent most of her freshman season playing first doubles with Slawinski. She also filled in at third singles and was picked the Most Improved Player. Her brother, John, is the No. 1 singles player on the boys team. The Buckleys are following in the footsteps of their father, who also is an excellent tennis player.

Franklin has an excellent shot at filling one of the singles' berth. A hard-hitter, Danielle needs to work on accuracy.

McGraw, plagued with knee problems, will probably team up with Jamie Taylor at first-doubles, while Slawinski, who spent more of last year in first doubles with Buckley, shared Most Improved Player accolades after the twosome finished with a 7-4 record.

Taylor's great reach and timing provides her with the assets of becoming a potentially powerful player. She's being eyed as a possible starter in first doubles with McGraw as her partner.

Hoinka, Marz and Kreft are the best bets to break into the starting doubles lineup.

Stearn will unveil its 1992 lineup on Sept. 2 when the Eagles take on neighboring Taylor Center for their season opener.

Romulus will launch the 1992 campaign on Sept. 2 when the Eagles take on neighboring Taylor Center.

Chivalry comes alive

Knights in shining armor are alive and well this week-end at the 13th annual Michigan Renaissance Festival.

Knights from the court of King Edward and Queen Katherine will do battle in the Games Gala Tourney in the 16th century village of Hollygrove on Aug. 29 and 30. Jousting is featured three times daily throughout the remainder of the seven-week event.

New attractions this summer are the juggling comedians Sean and Dave, daily presentations of the story of Beauty and the Beast and a recreation of LaSalle's discovery of the Great Lakes on the Griffon Stage. The festival features 200 revelers who perform on eight area stages and along the tree-lined paths of the 200-acre festival site.

More than 150 artisans demonstrate their skills and exhibit their pottery, jewelry, weavings, clothing, hand-blown glass and other hand-crafted items.

Visitors may test their skills in games which were popular during the Renaissance period, such as archery, dueling buckets and the maze and sample foods of the era: turkey drumsticks, Scotch eggs, sausage on a stick, spinach pie, knight's sandwiches and apple dumplings.

The festival is open between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. rain or shine, according to festival organizers. The festival site is located one mile north of Mt. Holly ski area on Dixie Highway, between Flint and Pontiac.

Supporters welcome arrival of Air Force One, President

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Supporters of George Bush, joined by curious airport workers, welcomed the arrival of the President at Willow Run Airport on Tuesday afternoon.

During an earlier visit to the area, employees of Chrysler Pentastar were not able to witness the arrival of Bush, but this time all work came to a halt as dozens of workers left their jobs and lined up to see the President.

Ground crew members and office workers brought their cameras to record the event during their break from daily duties, and a few chanted, "Give 'em hell in November." Peggy Champagne of Westland welcomed the opportunity to see the President up close, and was able to shake his hand when he strolled through the crowd.

"I'm excited about this. I'm not too interested in what he has to say, but I'm interested in what he is going to do. We need action," Champagne said. "Years ago, my mother had an opportunity to see President Nixon, but she didn't go because she wasn't a Republican. I didn't want to miss an opportunity to see Bush today, because you never know when a President will visit us again."

Champagne, a Pentastar clerk, hoped to hear the President talk about the Free Trade Agreement, a pact she opposes.

Pentastar workers Sandy Chamberlin of Canton Township and Annette Estrada of Westland were drawn by curiosity rather than political zeal to witness the President's arrival.

"Is Barbara coming? I'd like to see her," said Chamberlin. "I hope Bush addresses the real issues in his campaign. There's been too much talk about family values."

"Being this close to the President is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," Estrada said. "This is very exciting, and a nice break from work."

"They've closed the hangar doors, and it's too hot for us to work inside, so we'll all out here to see the President," said Dan LaVoie of Westland.

"I'm not too political, but I am interested in what Bush has to say about jobs. That's an important issue to me."

Sanford Pelham, a Zantop employee from Jackson, Mich., brought his family to see the arrival of the President.

"I hope to hear Bush elaborate on his tax plan. I'm hoping to hear a strong statement," Pelham said. "I brought the kids along because I thought they'd like an opportunity to see and meet the President."

His son, 11-year-old Curtis Pelham, brought a picture of the Bush family which he hoped the President would autograph for him.

"I wrote a letter to the President and asked him why there was no sisters and brothers day like there is a Mother's Day and Father's Day," Curtis said. "He didn't answer my question, but he sent me a photograph."

Audra Behm, 12, said she hoped to hear President Bush talk about the environment.

"I want President Bush to do something about helping to preserve the rain forests and other environmental issues," Audra said.

Julie Merritt, director of operations at the Comfort Inn in Romulus, was present to get a behind-the-scenes look at the campaign.

Merritt hoped to hear Bush speak about his goals and aspirations.

OF THE SPEEDWAY

Smith, who has raced in the NASCAR circuit since 1984, said, "It took a long time to realize that patience was the key to successful driving." He continued, "I'm taking a different attitude along into the 1992 season ... and I'm better prepared to face the tough challenge this level of racing offers."

After racing in the NASCAR All American Challenge Series (A.A.C.S.) Division since 1984, Smith won the A.A.C.S. National Championship in 1989. On his way to the championship he won four major races and recorded three Busch Poles, leading the series in each category.

In 1991 Smith entered and won his first A.R.C.A. race with John Rogin as a sponsor. The victory at the Permatex Super Car Series at Michigan International Speedway made Smith the fifth driver to ever win an A.R.C.A. race on his first attempt.

He continues to be a very consistent and competitive driver. Looking ahead in 1992, Smith has high intentions of placing better than ever in the Winston Cup Series and in the All-Pro Series. "I've learned a great deal about what it takes to compete at this level, so, I have better prepared my crew and I'm ready for a great season of racing!"

STANLEY SMITH OUR HERO

Stanley Smith Races Red, White and Blue in Winston Cup '92

NASCAR driver Stanley Smith (no hat) explains the importance of good tires to John Rogin and his guests at the speedway.

Stanley Smith discusses "race strategy" with fans while preparing for a major race. Stan's special race skills allowed him to win in the "Spirit of Wayne" before a national T.V. audience of 60 million people at Michigan International Speedway.

Fans crowd around Stanley Smith to get their "Rogin Racing" hats autographed as well as other race memorabilia. A special thanks to Bret Smith, (Stanley's son), whose marketing expertise helped put John Rogin Buick and the "Spirit of Wayne" on the map!
